NEW OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED IN LOCAL COMMANDERY

Impressive Speech by Right Eminent Past Grand Commander

MANY GUESTS PRESENT

Past Commander Priaulx Surrenders Chair to Commander Campbell

Threatening weather which finally developed a shower in no degree dampened the enthusiasm of Knights Templar and the installation of the new officers of the Glendale Commandery which took place at Masonic Temple last night was an impressive ceremony beautifully carried out and witnessed by about 125 knights, their ladies and guests.

The commandery was opened as usual by Commander J. P. Priaulx, Eminent Sir Robert Wankowski, past grand commander Knights Templar, state of California and his suite were then officially received and the ceremonies of installing the officers given into their hands. The program of the evening was carried out in the following order:

Retirement of efficers elective and appointive to march in escorted by Grand Marshal Eminent Sir A. J. Copp, jr.

Refreshments followed in the banquet hall below where a speech was made by Mattison B. Jones, a member of the commandery, but also grand high priest of the state of California.

General Robert Wankowski, right eminent past grand commander, assisted by Eminent Sir Andrew J. Copp as grand marshal, as stated, was the installing officer. Another ranking

POSSIBLE DELAY IN SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Bonding Capacity Will Be Materially Increased by Advance in Values

Superintendent of Schools Richardson D. White states that the legal opinions the board of trustees of the city schools were able to obtain indicated that school bonds voted and issued while the status of city schools was in transition between the present school district and the boundaries which will be established when the new city charter goes into effect might be invalidated. Opinions of absolute authority are hard to secure because the supreme court refused to rule on the matter. There is nothing to be done therefore, but to wait until the charter becomes effective in July.

After that interval it may be necessary to start from the bottom again because Grand View will then be a part of the city school system and will be clamoring for a school building. The new assessment will be available by September 1, and under that assessment it will be possible to vote more bonds for school purposes. Building permits issued between March, 1920, and March, 1921, totalled about $3,000,000. That amount of property, if assessed at 50 per cent of its value, should have a bonding value for school purposes of about $75,000. These estimates apply simply to new buildings and take no account of the extraordinary increase in the value of real estate, particularly on Brand and Broadway, nor of the taxable value of the Grand View district, recently annexed, which is roughly estimated at $300,000.

It is possible therefore, that the effort to put through a bond issue for city schools will be postponed until next fall.

S. G. ROLAND IN CHARGE OF BRANCH

One of the best of the new institutions which have recently come to Glendale is the Southern California-Metropolitan Loan Association which has opened a branch office on East Broadway, with S. G. Roland in charge.

The aim and purpose of a building and loan association is to aid and encourage its members to practice thrift, to save systematically and to provide ways and means whereby every family may secure a home.

The self-denial resulting from the practice of systematic saving and the feeling of independence that grows out of this habit tend to greater self-respect and self-confidence.

Building and loan associations provide ideal facilities for the practice of thrift. They offer a plan which makes systematic saving easy and convenient and which at the same time employs these savings in a manner profitable to their owner.

"Bundle Day"

The Near East Relief Committee takes this last chance to remind all interested in this humanitarian work that tomorrow is "Bundle Day."

Have your bundles of usable, warm clothing on your front porch where any passing Boy Scout, laundryman or school child may see them and take them to a receiving station for you, if it is not convenient for you to do this yourself.

The fire engine houses are receiving stations.

PRESBYTERIANS HAVE GREATEST DAY IN HISTORY

Last Sabbath was by far the greatest day in the history of the Glendale Presbyterian church. In spite of threatening weather, the church was literally crowded to the doors, with many standing, while others were turned away because of lack of room. It was certainly a "packed house." No sermon was preached, the interest centered solely in the administration of the Lord's Supper, which together with receiving new members, occupied more than the usual time.

One hundred and sixty-four new members were received into full church membership, which is a larger number than the entire membership at the beginning of the present pastorate.

During the past ten years the church has grown from a humble beginning of something more than 100 members, till now its roll is nearly 1000. This fact has aroused the building committee to the need of a very early beginning of the new building. Some definite announcement along this line will soon be made.

The finance committee are urging subscribers to make early and complete payment where such plan is possible.

Next Thursday evening 8 to 10, an informal reception will be tendered the new members under the direction of the F-K division of the church members. All members of the congregation and their friends are cordially invited. A "unique" program has been prepared.

VALUES IN EAST AND THE WEST

A subscriber to the Glendale Press, Mr. Hart, of the Hart Realty company, who came from Texas and who still receives the "hometown paper," has loaned to this office a couple of copies of the Weatherford Democrat containing local market quotations, which are of interest in view of Southern California prices. In this connection, however, it is well to remember that Weatherford is in the cattle country, a land of big distances and plenty of elbow room. One of the papers records the sale of a ranch containing 4170 acres to a successful oil man, for $190,000. Weatherford is no slouch of a town, however, judging by the information contained in the "Democrat." It employs 47 teachers in its city schools and it is about to erect a handsome three-story high school 153 feet long and 118 feet deep, which will contain an auditorium that will seat 800 people.

But to get back to its products and their prices: Large fryers are quoted at 12 1-2 cents a pound; old roosters at 6 cents a pound; hens, 16 cents a pound; ducks, $3 a dozen; geese, $1 each; guineas, $2.50 a dozen; hen's eggs, 12 1-2 cents a dozen; guinea eggs, 15 cents a dozen; young roosters, without spurs, about 4 pounds, 12 1-2 cents; young roosters with large combs same as old roosters, 7 cents; butter, 10 to 30 cents a pound; sweet potatoes, 5 cents a pound; peanuts, 60 to 65 cents a bushel; hogs, 6 1-2 cents a pound gross; beef cattle, 5 to 7 cents a pound. Hay is relatively high, however, new Johnson grass hay bringing $12 to $15 a ton and alfalfa $20 a ton.

CITY TEACHERS ARE REHEARSING PLAY TO BE GIVEN JUNE 4

Rehearsals of the play to be given by members of the City Teachers' Club, June 4, at the high school, are going forward and progress is encouraging.

An award has just been made in a song contest put on by the club to secure a song as a finale for the performance, the words to be original, the tune a reasonably familiar one. Eight songs were submitted to the judges: Miss Brennaman, music supervisor; Miss Gladys Sharpe, teacher of the Girls' Glee Club of Intermediate, and Mrs. Kent, in charge of music at Central avenue school. They chose the words handed in by Mrs. E. E. Harwood of Central avenue school, entitled, "Whiy Don't You Boost for Glendale Town?" to be sung to the tune of "Why Don't the Band Play"? The prize offered was $5.

The second choice of the committee was a song written by Mrs. Longley of Pacific avenue, entitled, "Glendale Straight Ahead," to be sung to the

EVERYTHING READY FOR FESTIVAL BY SHAKESPEARE SECTION

Details have been perfected for the Shakespeare festival to be given tomorrow afternoon in the Masonic Temple by the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club for the benefit of the building fund.

A dress rehearsal yesterday showed everyone perfect in his part (or, more properly speaking, in "her" part), and the indications are that the entertainment will be a real treat.

Prefers Glendale

After spending 31 years in Spokane, Wash., as a shoe merchant, August Anderson has decided he wants to spend the rest of his life in California. He had made a fairly good survey of resident centers of the state, visiting Santa Barbara, San Diego, Los Angeles, of course, and other cities and has decided that Glendale is the best of the lot. It is more like a real home town to him than any other he has seen. So he is making an effort to close out his interests in Spokane and come here to live. If he succeeds he may go into business here.

MASONIC GUESTS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. CAMPBELL

Mrs. Daniel Campbell entertained Monday, with a 6 o'clock dinner, in honor of distinguished Knights Templar who participated in the installation of officers of the Glendale Commandery later in the evening, covers being laid for General Robert Wankowski, past grand commander of the state of California and Mrs. Wankowski; Eminent Sir Andrew J. Copp, past grand standard bearer of California and Mrs. Copp; Mattison B. Jones, grand high priest of the state of California and Mrs. Jones; Percy J. Priaulx, retiring commander of Glendale Commandery and Mrs. Priaulx; Commander-elect Daniel Campbell, Mrs. Campbell and their children, Arthur Campbell and Kathleen Campbell. Easter lilies, which have special significance for Knights Templar, centered the table, and places were marked with monogram cards. Following the dinner the company repaired to the Commandery hall in Masonic Temple to witness the installation of Commander Campbell and his staff.

MRS. STEPHENSON GIVES LUNCHEON

Mrs. Dwight Stephenson was hostess at a luncheon last Friday at which she entertained her mother, Mrs. William Justema, and Mmes. Andrew Stephenson, John Hobbs, John A. Logan, D. H. Smith and Nell Capus. A pink color scheme was carried out in the floral decoration of the table, nut baskets, and other appointments. Following the luncheon, a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by the ladies over their needlework.

First Lady of France Aiding in "Wear a Poppy" Movement

Madame Millerand

The red poppy of Flanders Fields, the flower immortalized in verse when it bloomed over the graves of the American hero dead sleeping there, is proving a new bond of friendship between America and France. The "Wear a Poppy" Movement, sponsored by the American-Franco Children's League and many patriotic organizations, has received the indorsement of President Millerand of France, and the National Information Bureau here. Replicas of the Flanders poppy will be worn in both nations on May 30 in memory of those who fell fighting for humanity's cause.

Mme. Millerand, wife of the president of France, is in active charge of the work of the League in France. The organization is a clearing house for the relief work among the children of the war-torn areas and the funds raised through the sale of poppies will go toward the amelioration of the conditions among these children. The poppies have been made by French orphans, and millions of them have been sent to America.

Mme. Millerand has been heart and soul in relief work ever since the declaration of war. She has given many hours daily to it, and still continues to do so, despite the demands upon her time because of her position as "first lady of the land." In some cases she has personally administered relief, taking necessities to needy children.

PYTHIAN HOME MAY BE ERECTED IN SOUTHLAND

Delegate J. A. Spence of Glendale Attends State Convention of Order

Indications are that the Southland may secure the home to be established somewhere in California by the Knights of Pythias, according to Joe Spence, of the force of the Glendale Daily Press, a delegate from Helmet Lodge, Los Angeles, to the state convention held at Santa Rosa May 16 to May 20.

It is probable that two Pythian homes may be established in this state, supported by the Knights of Pythias from ten western states. A committee to select the site or sites, was appointed at this convention.

The meeting surpassed all previous conventions in the number of delegates as well as in the interest manifested, the importance of the business transacted and the number and diversity of its entertainment features, Mr. Spence reports. There were 450 delegates present. Elaborate parades featured the affair, and among the entertainment features were automobile rides through the several hundred miles of matchless scenery of Sonoma county. A grand ball was the entertainment tendered visiting lodges on Friday night.

Two important offices went to the Southland: J. Stanley Brown was elected grand chancellor, and John S. Meyers grand trustee. Both are Los Angeles men. Chico captured the 1922 state convention of the order, whose affairs were shown to be in a flourishing state, a gain of 3000 members having been made since the 1920 convention.

R. E. Frey and Sam Brown were present as delegates from Glendale Lodge No. 331. J. E. Peters was another Glendale member in attendance.

CLASS ENTERS ON A SPECIAL WORK

All members of the Alpha Omega class of the Central Christian church are urged to be present at a meeting of the class at the home of Kathryn Weisling, 621 East Colorado street, this evening. Every member may bring a friend and any young man or woman who is not a member elsewhere is given a cordial invitation to come tonight. The class is entering upon a special work and important matters are to be decided tonight, but after the business meeting? — Trust Kathryn Weisling for that—you'll certainly regret it if you aren't there.

Authorities Preparing For a Clean Glendale

Special Attention Being Given to Scavenger Service—Last Appropriation Inadequate, Due to Immense Rise in Prices and Unlooked-for Expenses

Few people realize the extent of the service that the city is required to render in the collections and disposal of various classes of waste matter or the amount of money that is necessarily spent in the promotion of municipal cleanliness.

The budget for the ensuing fiscal year is now being prepared and while the figures are not complete or final, they indicate that it is going to require an expenditure of approximately $34,316.25 during the coming year in the public welfare department. This includes the cost of all efforts of the city through the office of the health officer for the conservation of life. This consists largely of measures for the prevention of the spread of contagious diseases. To this end the services of a health officer, a sanitary inspector and a health nurse will be employed. The total cost of this service will be approximately $4000. In addition to this a general sanitary inspector will be employed to inspect the dairies and water supply and to investigate any reports of unsanitary conditions, and employ measures to correct the same.

Scavenger service, that is, the gathering of garbage, waste matter and street cleaning, will require the services of three trucks most of the time and there will be employed in this service eleven men whose monthly salaries will total $1313 a month, or $15,756 a year. The cost of operating these three trucks will exceed $3000 a year.

The above are some of the main items that make up the total cost of the public welfare department. This department includes the division of forestry which we will not discuss here.

As the city grows larger and the population increases in number and density, more stringent measures must be taken to safeguard the public health and larger provisions made for the gathering and removal of wastes that would make the city unsanitary if not promptly removed and destroyed. This service is being provided for adequately on the assumption that the people do not want these matters neglected in any particular.

All the services rendered in this particular have been paid for heretofore by general tax, in which all the property holders of the city participate. It is not planned to permanently deviate from this policy. The charges proposed to be collected for the gathering of garbage and waste matter for the first six months of the ensuing fiscal year should be considered as a temporary measure for the

"Loyalty" Keynote of Sir James Craig's Appeal

Asks Ulster Constituents to Vote Against War With Their Countrymen and for Peace and Prosperity in Ireland—Precautionary Measures Taken

DUBLIN, May 24.—Balloting is taking place today in Ulster province for the new Northern Ireland parliament, which was created under the Irish home rule partition act. This is the first election to be held under the new law which created two parliaments for Ireland. one in Dublin, the other in Belfast.

It was generally conceded that Eamonn de Valera, president of the Irish republic," Michael Collin, so-called commander-in-chief of the Irish Republican army and Joseph Devlin, the Nationalist leader, would all win seats in the Belfast parliament. They are standing for election in constituencies that are strongly anti-unionist.

It is probable that the final results will not be known until Thursday morning. The Belfast parliament will contain 52 members. Sir James Craig, leader of the Unionists and premier-designate of Ulster, claims his party will have 32 seats, which will give it a good working majority. De Valera, on the eve of the election, issued a public appeal for unity, saying:

"The orange and green together can command the future of Ireland. Vote for an Ireland that will be peaceful, prosperous and happy. Vote against war with your fellow countrymen. Vote that brother's hand may not be raised against brother. Vote that there will be an end to partition, disunion and ruin."

Sir James Craig issued an appeal to his Ulster constituents, asking for "one loyalty to Great Britain."

"Scatter the enemy's hopes for a republic," said Sir James. "Let our friends throughout the empire see that we are determined to uphold the cause of loyalty."

Strong precautions were taken throughout the whole province to prevent election disorders.

Glendale Given State-Wide Publicity By Christian Endeavor Convention Here June 25 to 29

This song was composed by State Christian Endeavor Transportation Manager Arnold Anderson of Oakland, California. It was used at a recent Alameda County Christian Endeavor convention and at once became so popular that Endeavorers all over the state are now singing it. Only last week, during the state executive meeting did Southern California manage to secure copies similar to the one published, and Sunday afternoon the members of Glendale convention committee were guests of the Los Angeles County Endeavorers and were given an opportunity to sing this song as well as other Glendale songs composed by members of the Glendale committee. However, this song, in particular, is a favorite from the fact that it originated in the North and shows the spirit of the entire state of California as regards the great Christian Endeavor convention to be held in our city June 25 to 29, which promises to be the largest and best in the history of California State Christian Endeavor conventions.

TALK TO BOYS ON CIGARET-SMOKING

Mr. Walton, president of the State Anti-Cigaret League is to address the boys of Intermediate school today on the evil effects of cigaret smoking.

There was a good deal of idle talk last year about cigaret smoking among boys of the grammar schools of Glendale. The matter was finally probed by school instructors and trustees who had confidential meetings with representative and trustworthy boys of the schools asking for information they could furnish in regard to the prevalence of the habit. No effort was made to persuade the boys to name the actual offenders as it is against the principles of school officials to encourage tattling. The investigation revealed practically no smoking on the school grounds and very little on the streets when boys were out from under the supervision of teachers. Mr. White states there is even less smoking this year than last, and talks such as Mr. Walton makes are of great value. However, it should be remembered that the whole teaching staff is constantly reinforcing the lesson with instruction in hygiene as part of the regular school work showing the ill effects of alcohol and narcotics.

LANDIS TO REMAIN A JUDGE, HE SAYS

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 24.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis has emphatically denied constantly recurring reports that he would resign his seat on the Federal bench. The denial, followed a strong revival of the report that he intended to quit his high judicial post in order to devote all of his time to his duties as baseball high commissioner.

Judge Landis

Judge Landis' resignation, reports had it, was to become effective in June. Judge Landis says he has never said anything from which it could possibly be construed that he would give up his judgeship.

Reports of that kind began to circulate shortly after the attack on him in Congress, occasioned by the fact that he held two positions. It was said that he was averse to resigning at that time because he disliked to quit when under fire.

HUNTERS KILL OFF ANTELOPE STOCK

(By International News Service)

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., May 24.—Indignation has been aroused among those interested in the conservation of wild animals over the slaughter by hunters of at least half the antelope in a large herd that makes its home in the open country northwest of this town.

The herd lived unmolested for years and at its maximum numbered 300 animals. Hunters began to make clandestine raids on the herd last fall and kept up their depredations during the winter. At the opening of spring not more than 150 antelope were left.

Prong-horn antelope, once rival of the bison in number on the plains of North America, have been almost exterminated. This is one of the few wild herds remaining on the continent. When the Hudson's Bay Company was the sovereign power on the prairies, the land which is now rapidly selling to farm settlers, swarmed with antelope. Now only a few hundred are left of the hosts that once glanced in the sun.

The antelope of the United States have shared the fate of those of Canada. Except for a few fugitive bands in desert wastes, all the wild antelope have disappeared. The greatest herd left on the continent is in Yellowstone park under government protection. Small herds also are flourishing in government parks in Montana and Oklahoma. Antelope are prolific and multiply rapidly under favorable conditions.

The Canadian government has been notified of the decimation of the Swift Current herd by hunters and asked to take steps to save the antelope from extermination.

CONVENTION OF AD MEN IN TACOMA

(By International News Service)

TACOMA, May 24.—Members of the Tacoma Advertising club are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the members of the Pacific Coast Advertising association, which will hold its annual convention in this city, July 3 to 9, inclusive.

Probably no other convention of the association has ever been arranged with more attention to the entertainment of the delegates as the one to be held here this year and the thousands of delegates from all the cities of the coast, who plan to attend the session, are assured of one of the most royal times they have ever experienced.

The three paramount entertainments of the six-day meeting are the national auto races at the huge Tacoma speedway, the American Legion entertainment in the great open air stadium on July 4, and the visit to the great mountain known in the northwest as Mt. Tacoma or Mt. Ranier.

Famous automobile drivers from every section of the country will participate in the annual speed classic on the afternoon of July 4 and in the evening the American Legion entertainment in the stadium will bring famous artists from the east to take part in the program.

The convention will close with an automobile trip to snow-clad glaciers of the mountain which lie four hours by auto and where skiing and other winter sports will be afforded the visitors, most of whom will come from the sunny south.

Besides the entertainment features of the convention, business sessions dealing with the many important problems of the coast, will be held in Tacoma.

PARENTAGE CASE CALLS ON SCULPTOR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—A sculptor will be called upon to assist in determining the parentage of six-year-old Eugene Del Secco.

Last week the mother declared that despite the fact the boy was born during the period of her marriage to Julius Sorine, the boy was not Sorine's child. Through her attorney she asked that a blood test be arranged with Dr. Albert Abrams to prove her claim. Judge Graham assented and today attorneys for Sorine filed their assent, but asked that a sculptor also be called upon to assist in determining parentage by means of measurement of the features of the boy and of Sorine. Judge Graham declared this reasonable and announced Haig Patigan, well known sculptor, probably would be called upon to act.

Utilization of the sculptor recalls the famous Slingsby baby substitution case in England many years ago, in which Justice Darling used the findings of a sculptor as a means of determining parentage.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Churches and Boards Merger Will Be Topic—Bryan May Be Moderator

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 24.—Possible mergers of boards, churches and denominations will be among the subjects to receive lively discussion during the sessions of the 133d General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, at Winona Lake, Ind., May 19-28.

A report of special interest will be given by Dr. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Chicago and head of the special Presbyterian committee on the reorganization of the Presbyterian boards and agencies. This committee is keeping its report secret and board officials are "in the air" as to whether or not the board which they represent will be consolidated with some other board or done away with or otherwise changed.

Overtures will also be presented from several presbyteries calling for the reorganization of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, New York City; consolidation of the Presbyterian Board of Missions for Freedmen, Pittsburgh, with the Board of Home Missions, New York City, for the change the name of the Board of Missions for Freedmen to one more expressive of the work it does in over 400 Presbyterian Negro schools. Some Presbyterians are also advocating the consolidation of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work, Philadelphia, or some portion of it, with the Presbyterian General Board of Education, New York City.

The question of the merging of the churches will come up in the discussion of the Plan for Federal Union and will have to do with the linking together in a Federal Uuion plan which allows for the autonomy of individual churches, but makes for consolidated action, and deals with reformed and Presbyterian churches holding the Presbyterian system.

To Hear Merger Proposals.

Recommendations on action to be taken by the Presbyterian General Astogether in a Federal Union plan be given by the special committee on Church Cooperation and Union, headed by Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, of Princeton, New Jersey. This committee will also report on the plans for Organic Union of Evangelical Churches in America. It is this latter plan that has to do with the merging of denominations.

The question of Organic Union is now being considered by the 302 presbyteries to which it was sent down by the last Presbyterian General Assembly. Late reports show this organic union plan to be losing out, but several presbyteries have announced their intention of being prepared to ask at General Assembly that a new plan be devised which will be more agreeable and more likely of acceptance.

Another proposition which is being considered by the Presbyterians is the question of the eligibility of women to serve as elders or deacons in the Presbyterian church. Late reports showed the women leading on this question. A two-thirds majority of the presbyteries is required to pass the overture.

One especially important matter to come up will have to do with the election of Stated Clerk to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late Dr. William Henry Roberts. Many commissioners representing presbyteries are anxious that the term of the Stated Clerk be limited to five years and that the vacancy be left open until after those nominated at the Winona Assembly have been carefully gone over by a committee which will report ot the following assembly. Next to moderator of the General Assembly the office of Stated Clerk is one of the most important in the Presbyterian church.

As usual much interest will attach in the election of moderator, which election is always held on the opening day. William Jennings Bryan will be one of the commissioners at the Assembly this year from Florida presbytery and has been mentioned as a candidate for moderator. Presbyterian friends, however, declare that he will not arrive at Winona Lake until a moderator has been elected.

PSYCHOLOGY DEAN DISCUSSES TEST

Questions and answere were shown to Dr. James E. Lough, dean of the extra mural faculty of New York University and head of its department of psychology.

Dr. Lough is a specialist on intelligence and educational tests. His psychological courses involve research work in examining individuals as to their "social traits," "intellectual traits" and the degree of their emotionalism, will, idealism, spiritual susceptibility, discriminative faculty, professional efficiency and other individual traits.

Dr. Lough was not told the identity of the person who had answered the questions. The only information given him was that they were the replies of a 12-year-old boy. He examined each list, and made the following comment:

"The boy who wrote these answers has an unusual memory. At an unusually early age his mind seems to be a storehouse of facts. In some respects few college seniors of 20 or over would have done better. He is, however, totally uninterested in mechanics or manufacturing, as shown by the fact that he makes reply to such questions as those which exact a light knowledge of how leather is tanned or how auto tires or composited. There are many youngsters under 12 of normal brightness who would have been eager to tell what they knew of things of that kind.

"On the other hand, there are mature men capable of writing brilliant plays, essays or novels or editorials; capable of painting masterpieces; of composing or conducting symphonies, who would, no doubt, poo-poo the necessity for any knowledge on their part about the manufaoture of a felt hat. They would ignore the question as this lad has done, and probably with less embarrassment.

Not Artistic

"The boy is plainly not attracted by artistic matters. He has paid no attention to the lines in the old recitation beginning 'Of all the operas Verdi wrote the best, to my taste is the "Trovatore."' He does not even regard the citation of the magazines and newspapers he likes as pertinent to an analysis of his mental equipment. His memory, however, is phenomenal when it comes to figures or names. Where he makes a mistake, as when he ascribes the founding of the New York Herald to Horace Greeley, his error is natural. He thinks of Greeley as the father of all newspapers."

Useful to Edison

"How would I rate the value of the questions as an "intelligence test?" Well, they are plainly meant to indicate to Mr. Edison the direction of man's interest rather than the degree of his mental sensitiveness. He includes, for instance, a question about laundry machines. It may be of no importance to the average citizen to know much about laundry machines, but it is important to Mr. Edison to know whether a man is concerned about the manufacture of household utensils."

To be eligible to election to the Hall of Fame a persron must have been dead for ten years.

ROBERT WALTON TO DRIVE TO TEXAS

Cheering Reports From Oil Fields in Which He Has Heavy Investments

Robert A. Walton, whose Glendale headquarters are in the offices of Burton & Chandler, is leaving in a day or two for Texas, where he has large lease holdings in the rapidly developing oil fields in Wise and other counties in the northwest section of the state. He is hurried somewhat by the cheering telegrams he has received of a lot of new wells coming in, including one big well that is showing up plenty of oil. Land that has been selling for $5 and $10 an acre within a few miles of these wells has jumped to $100 an acre. He says that land values are jumping very fast in north central Texas. Mr. Walton will drive through on this trip and will visit a new field in the southern part of Arkansas that has been open only about four months, in which locations are being made so fast the records cannot keep up with them. Since the discovery well came in 43 completed wells have been sunk with a daily output of 90,000 barrels. A party of Glendale men may accompany Mr. Walton.

NEW BUILDING BEING ERECTED

The new brick building being erected on North Glendale avenue by Spencer Robinson is nearing completion. Mr. Robinson will occupy the room being completed and vacate his present quarters in the Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank building to allow that institution the opportunity to enlarge their now inadequate quarters. Bank officials state that improvements as contemplated will add greatly to their facilities to handle the business and be a big addition to that busy corner.

VACATIONS FOR UNDERNOURISHED POOR CHILDREN

Mrs. R. W. Meeker, 1320 East Colorado street, zealous worker in the cause of the Home for Undernourished Children which has been established at Monte Vista, has received the following letter from the Council of Community Service:

Dear fellow-worker—Two years ago a movement was launched by the Council of Community Service for the creating of a fund to be known as the "Milk and Maintenance Fund" and to provide vacation homes for undernourished children of Los Angeles county, John F. Meyers, city auditor of the city of Los Angeles, serving as treasurer.

A fund of $15,000 was raised in a campaign last year, at an expense of less than 1 per cent, providing milk for babies in private homes and institutions, also giving 240 babies and 66 adults a vacation at Playa Del Rey, and placing 205 children on ranches for the summer.

This year the Council of Community Service plans to extend the scope of its big humanitarian mission and will supplement the work of last year through its new, all-year-round camp, Monte Vista Lodge, to be used exclusively for undernourished and convalescent children.

May we depend on you to help this worthy cause? Give the babies and children a chance for life and health and a glimpse of the happiness that is every child's heritage. You helped unfortunate babes in Europe; let us not forget the little ones in our midst.

A vacation for one child averages 67½ cents a day, or $10 for two weeks at either the Playa Del Rey or the Monte Vista camp. Make checks payable to the "Milk and Maintenance Fund," J. F. Meyers, treasurer.

Cordially yours,
Mrs. J. F. MEYERS,
Miss JANE C. HUMPHREYS,
Mrs. FLORINE H. WOLFFTER,
Ways and Means Committee, Council of Community Service.

PRUSSIA REQUESTS END OF SPY SYSTEM

Claim That French Military Spy Service is Hiring Criminals to Steal

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, May 24.—The Prussian state government has asked the German federal government to address a note to the French commission complaining that the French military spy service is hiring German criminals to commit thefts of German official papers. The French intelligence service conducts a regular camp of trained German second-story men in Griesheim near Darmstadt, explained an official of the Prussian ministry of the interior to the International News service. German volunteers who are found unsuited for admission to the French Foreign Legion and who have a criminal record are asked if they do not wish to enroll in the French intelligence service, it is alleged.

The camp at Griesheim is conducted by First Lieutenant Lafond, assisted by Lieutenants Robert and Baret. The Prussian government has complete testimony in several cases. A German who had enlisted in this service under Lieutenant Lafond was assigned to break into the desk of an active German captain in Darmstadt to steal official military papers.

The man alleged that he told Lieutenant Lafond he couldn't do the job alone and asked for an assistant. Another man was assigned and the burglar reported the facts to the Darmstadt police. By agreement, the police arrested the two as they entered the captain's room, and the second man is alleged to have also made a complete confession.

High Prices Paid for Papers

The Prussian government claims that it has a similar confession from a man arrested stealing military papers in Freiburg. The circus of trained burglars is not paid except for jobs accomplished, and then in accordance with the value of the papers brought back, the state's witnesses are said to have confessed. Then the pay varies from ten to twenty thousand marks for the job. In the meantime, they get free board and lodging in the Greisheim camp.

Another case reported in the official documents which the Prussian minister of the interior has placed at the disposal of the foreign office, is the confession of a German sailor who says he was compelled to write to comrades still in the German navy, offering them a reward if they could secure copies of the German naval codes for him. Copies of these letters, allegedly dictated by Lieutenant Robert, are attached to the evidence.

HOW DO THEY EXPLAIN IT?

This is a question for those who pride themselves on securing such bargains at cut rate drug stores in Los Angeles to ask the next time they buy their favorite tooth paste or patent medicine at such stores.

The wholesale price of Pepsodent has not changed in a year, but Los Angeles stores have raised their retail price twice in the last month. Why?

Moral: Don't trade at a store that juggles prices. They are out to skin you.

Yours for a fair profit.

FROM A LIBRARY WINDOW

The other evening at a Masonic banquet President Harding expressed the hope that he would see the day when men in responsible positions, speaking for their people, "could gather around a conference table to adjust their disputes." Continuing, Mr. Harding said, "If the peoples of the world can only understand each other and if men in authority can only face each other in speaking for the several peoples of the world, there will never be another conflict to block the progress of civilization. Rather than to contemplate a conflict or to enter into one, I would rather sit at a table and settle it in advance."

Those are inspiring words to come from the chief executive of our nation and peace-loving Americans may rightly rejoice over the president's ideals. But, somehow, those words have a strange and familiar ring. The more or less constant reader of the daily press must recall having read them before, and from the lips of another spokesman. The picture of "men in authority responsible to their people" sitting about a great council table and calmly weighing the controversies of disputants rather than settling their differences by warfare will not appeal to the average man as an entirely new idea. Certainly someone else, an American and a peacemaker, has uttered words like unto those.

In the library of a comfortable house not far from the nation's capitol is an ex-President of the United States, a gray-haired man who gave the best of his physical self and taxed the limit of his nervous system to give his country a seat at the council table where men in authority, and speaking for their people, may adjust their disputes. All the chairs at the council table were filled with men in authority, all save the chair reserved for the United States.

It would be a very natural thing for Mr. Wilson to look out of his library window occasionally and, seeing the great dome of the capitol in the distance, reflect upon the reversal of opinion expressed in the official chambers beneath. Not long ago there was the bitterest opposition to anything which savored of council table or world conference. And now, one of those men who at one time had declared a policy of complete isolation for this country sends American representatives to the Allied peace council and to the conferences of the reparations commission.

The picture of Mr. Harding in Mr. Wilson's clothes would be one of the most humorous things in American history if it were not for the tragedies behind the scenes and the ill-fated consequences if the United States had continued its policy of political isolation.

The superiority of modern civilization is grimly tested when there is permitted to exist such an outrage as is now being enacted on the West Virginia-Kentucky border along the Tug river. The fighting which has been going on intermittently for the past two weeks in the mining towns of that district is of too serious a nature to be looked upon as a mere labor difference between mine operators and workers. Human nature, however lawless, does not endanger the lives of wives and children for the sheer pleasure of shooting. Uncle Sam would do well to send a group of honest investigators as well as federal troops into the battle region. The truth about the cause of the fighting would probably be as enlightening as interesting.

THE FRUITS OF WINKING

A good story against himself is being told by a Nonconformist divine of the severe old school, who, however, is not without a sense of humor. He was traveling north. Just before he got to York he opened the carriage window, with the result that he got a piece of grit in his eye. He rubbed it and did all the usual things, but it still troubled him, and every now and again he had involuntarily to wink.

When he got to York he went into the buffet and asked for a glass of milk. This being served, he gulped it down, and then realized that something was wrong, he said to the barmaid, "That wasn't milk, was it?"

"No, sir, rum and milk."

"But I asked you for milk."

"Yes, sir, but you tipped me the wink."—London Post.

Series of Articles on Patents, Inventions, Etc.

By WILLIAM C. CUTLER of Glendale, California

INFLUENCE OF INVENTION UPON THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

Of all the countries in the world, the United States has benefited most by invention. Her inventors form the most notable list in the sphere of applied science, and their contributions are the wonder and the envy of her competitors for industrial supremacy. To the cotton gin, the south largely owes her prosperity, and the northern textile mills a sufficient supply of raw materials; to the McCormick reaper, the west owes in no small degree her development and the country a plenitude of food products. To the patent system as instituted in this country, which has most encouraged and protected and thus stimulated invention, do we owe this advantage primarily. In a recent address by Sir Robert A. Hadfield, of Sheffield, England, one of the world's greatest inventors, a leading authority on metallurgy and a steel manufacturer of world-wide reputation, he said:

"As showing how patents for inventions strike a "new" nation, it may be mentioned that the Japanese government, when considering the establishment of a patent system on the lines of that created by the American patent act of March 1, 1899, appointed Mr. Takanashi their special commissioner to Washington, D. C. On being asked why the people of Japan desired to have a patent system, he replied: 'It is only since Commodore Perry in 1854 opened the ports of Japan to foreign commerce that the Japanese have been trying to become a great nation, and we have looked about us to see what nations are the greatest, so that we can be like them, and we said: "There is the United States, not much more than 100 years old, and America not discovered by Columbus until 400 years ago." We said: "What is it that makes the United States such a great nation?" And we investigated and found it was patents, and we will have patents." The writer agrees in every way with this wise statement by the Japanese representative and wishes his countrymen would insist upon a British parliament giving to the British Empire a patent law as liberal and as equitable as that of the United States of America."

Patent System Suffers From Lack of Proper Support

This is the opinion of a disinterested and most discriminating critic, and no more valuable and conclusive testimony could be offered. Yet the system that has done so much for America has not had the support of American public opinion. Like all effective organisms, the patent system must grow or wither.

Effect of Court Decisions in Price-Fixing Cases

In former days, patent cases in litigation could be carried upon appeal to the supreme court of the United States. For some time, however, the final adjudication of these cases, with rare exceptions, has rested with the several circuit courts of appeal, resulting in divergencies of practice, unsettlement in principles, and uncertainty in the status of patent rights. The judges in these courts find patent cases intricate, and though admitted lack of technical training, are somewhat reluctant to try them. The supreme court, however, still interprets the law involving fundamental rights, as illustrated in the decision of the Boston Store of Chicago vs. American Graphophone company, et al. This decision and comprehensive opinion, reversing the law laid down in the Dick mimeograph case, affirms views of the same tenor just previously announced, to the effect that a patent grant confers on its beneficiaries no greater right of price-fixing, as the term is generally understood, than is possessed by the owner of an unpatented article. This subject will be taken up in detail later.

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

THE NEW SPORT TOGS

The growing enthusiasm for sport clothes is not to be wondered at, nor is it surprising that women have taken to wearing them on almost all occasions regardless of the time and the place, for we have more variety now in this type of dress than in any other. Any inherent love of color of which one may be possessed finds expression in the modern outing apparel. Then, too, there is an almost infinite variety of materials and styles in these.

It is a far cry from the stiff linen shirtwaist with mannish collar and the plain linen skirt, to the ultra-modern sport costume, consisting of a crepe de chine skirt and flowered chintz coat. One of our best American designers has just created such a suit, with the skirt of beige silk and the jacket of black chintz gaily flowered in beige, orange and brown.

The developments in sport clothes are tremendously interesting to the follower of fashions. In the past there was no type of dress in which we were more slavishly conventional. Not even in our evening clothes was fashion more exacting. Happily, all this has passed into oblivion.

Among the dressed-up type of sport things is a three-piece costume, consisting of a straight dress and short, circular cape. Although the dress is a one-piece affair, the waist portion is of gray crepe de chine and the skirt of bright green camel's-hair cloth, marked off into squares with silver thread. The cape is of camel's-hair. It has a long collar stitched with silver and linked together at the waistline with silver buttons.

One hears considerable criticism even nowadays of women's clothes, but there never has been a time when women's dress has not been criticized. There may have been certain periods when the dress of ancient Greece was simpler and more comfortable than our clothes today, but there were certainly other Grecian periods when it was more complicated.

A sport blouse made in slip-on style is shown in the windows. Of rather dark green, it is trimmed with lines of tiny and inconspicuous beads in yellow. It is cut in a deep decollete with a collar that it drawn almost together at the neck-line. A single line of hand-drawn work breaks the plainness between the lines of beads. A girdle of black silk rings outlines the normal waistline below which the peplum hangs with some fullness.

Of scrim is a tan overblouse that reaches below the hips, almost covered with a bold design in white embroidery, while the third model displayed is of handkerchief linen in plain casaquin style, with hand-drawn work and a white frilled rollover collar and cuffs to match.

A decided novelty this season is a bag with a secret pocket. The interior of the bag is apparently lined in the usual way but on closer observation it is revealed that one side of the lining is loose, hiding compact pockets beneath.

For evening wear the water lily bag is shown, made of petals of fancy brocaded silk.

Knitted sports wear is a popular style at Atlantic City. Knitted sport capes in huge plaid design are greatly in favor and slip-on sweaters and knitted dresses also prevail. Tan, rust, gray and orchid are the most popular colors for summer, according to reports from the yarn shops. Many black and white sweaters are being made, also. Interweaving wood beads in the wool mesh is the newest idea for trimming in hand-knit sweaters. Novelty shoes in brown and white or brown and tan mixtures complete the sport outfit.

AIR MAIL DELIVERY SERVICE IS TESTED

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 24.—To compare the time that may be made in transit by aircraft in the future and the time now required for a letter to go around the world Major Charles J. Glidden, president of the World's Board of Aeronautical Commissioners, Inc., will start four letters around the world. Two eastward by a route north of the equator and two westward by a route south of the equator. The letters going by the routes north of the equator will be remailed by the commissioner of the World's Board of Aeronautical Commissioners, Inc., in England, Ceylon and Japan. The letters going by the routes south of the equator will be ramailed by the commissioner in England and New Zealand. An air route north of the equator around the world is 22,207 miles. The World's Board now numbers 93 members in 75 countries and colonies of the world.

DON'T DRIFT ALONG

The easy roads are crowded,
And the level roads are jammed;
The pleasant little rivers
With the drifting folks are crammed.
But off yonder where it's rocky,
Where you get a better view,
You will find the ranks are thinning
And the travelers are few.
Where the going's smooth and pleasant,
You will always find the throng,
For the many, more's the pity,
Seem to like to drift along.
But the steps that call for courage,
And the task that's hard to do,
In the end results in glory
For the never-wavering few.

When we get back to normal let us hope we can have a romance or a movie in which neither the hero or heroine are married.

The former Kaiser says his people deserted him and God at the same time. It sounds impossible.

Y. M. C. A. GROUP WERE DINNER HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boyd, 326 North Jackson street, assisted by the boys of Mr. Boyd's Y. M. C. A. group, were hosts last evening at a four-course dinner in honor of Glendale Y. M. C. A. leaders. Places were marked at the prettily appointed table for A. H. Wilcox, J. W. Cotton, Joseph Maier, Harry Marple, Everett Anderson, Ray Jewell, Edwin Hurphy, Neil Locke of Alhambra, Paul Edmonds, Robert Elliot, Rex C. Kelley and the hosts and assistant hosts.

Reports of the year's work and its results were made, and plans were outlined for the round-up on Friday at the L. C. Brand aviation field. Yell leaders were selected and also leaders to have charge of the different athletic teams for the round-up.

Details were perfected for the Y. M. C. A. boys' participation in the work of collecting the bundles for Near East Relief tomorrow, "bundle day."

WOMAN OFFICER IN NATIONAL GUARD

(By International News Service)

SANTA FE, N. M., May 24.—Mrs. James Baca, of this city, is believed to be the only woman officer of a national guard unit in the United States.

Mrs Baca has been appointed assistant to Adjutant-General Henry R. Brown, of the New Mexico National Guard, with the rank of major, and the adjutant-general has ruled that she is entitled to the "salute."

Mrs. Baca is the wife of Captain "Jim" Baca, former adjutant-general and for several years was part of the military organization headed by her spouse.

When the new adjutant-general was inducted into office he found Mrs. Baca's knowledge of military affairs indispensable and retained her as his executive officer. Mrs. Baca is a social favorite and an expert equestrienne.

Glendale Theater

Today's feature picture at the Glendale theater is "The Married Virgin," with Vera Sisson and Rodolfo Di Valentini in the stellar roles.

The picture is described as a photoplay of thrills and rich in dramatic situations, with enough humor to supply a happy balance.

An added attraction at the Glendale theater at the first show this evening is Marcuri's real Indian vaudeville company.

This is the only show of its kind on the stage today. It is a novelty Wild West act, consisting of sharp-shooting, fancy rope twirling and other features enacted by real Indians on the plains.

A Pathe review, and the latest Rolin comedy, "Hurry West," are also shown on today's program at the Glendale theater.

TERRITORY DIVIDED FOR "BUNDLE DAY"

According to arrangements made by leaders in both organizations, Y. M. C. A. boys will collect bundles tomorrow, "Bundle Day," from porches in territory east of Brand, while the Boy Scouts will gather up bundles in territory west of Brand.

MEMBER HONORED BY NATIONAL GUARD

Impressive funeral services for Warren Winacke, a member of Glendale Company of the California National Guard, were held at the Little Church of the Flowers, yesterday afternoon, Dr. Gilliland, pastor of the Methodist church of Eagle Rock, officiating.

The choir of the Methodist church of Eagle Rock sang several beautiful selections and Miss Gilliland's solo, "Face to Face," was inspiring and consoling.

Pall bearers were chosen from Warren's comrades in the Glendale Guard company and Glendale members of the Guard escorted the body of their comrade to its last resting place and from their number were chosen the firing squad that fired the military salute at the grave. After an impressive pause, the bugler of the Guard sounded taps; from far away across the quiet hills came the echo, like a voice from a better world, but faintly heard by mortal ears as yet too dull to catch its deepest meaning.

When washing ecru curtains or lace add a few drops of saffron to the rinsing water. It gives a better color than coffee.

Palace Grand

The production is founded on John Moroso's novel, "The Quarry." Mr. Meighan plays the role of a small town youth who is made the tool of murderers and sent to prison for a crime of which he is innocent. The photoplay shows prison life in all its phases and is athrob with heart interest and appeal.

AND GOOD REASON WHY

They were talking of art. She had become quite sentimental and the young man was getting a trifle bored.

After some particularly inane remark from his fair companion, he roused himself to continue the conversation.

"I remember one icture that brought tears to my eyes," he said.

"Oooooooh!" she answered, "Ooooh!" just like that. "It must have been a pathetic subject."

"As a matter of fact," he returned, "I don't happen to know what the subject was; but I happened to be sitting under the picture when the cord broke and it came down on my head."

C. OF C. DIRECTORS MEET AT WHITE INN

The directorate of the chamber of commerce met at the White Inn today instead of at the high school which is going to be much crowded with functions and semi-social affairs from now until commencement and will probably not be able to cater for the directors any longer. They give up the pleasant and convenient location and the good things served by the girl students with regret.

The business items brought before directors today by Secretary Rhoades included an appeal from the Los Angeles chamber of commerce for an appropriation for a barbecue to be given at Venice, May 28, for the sailors under Admiral Rodman.

He also submitted a letter from the industrial committee of the local chamber for approval by the board indorsing the Ever Ready Heater Company's proposition to establish a plant in this city.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

One of the most striking features of "At the End of the World," which marks Betty Compson's debut as a Paramount star, and is now under production at the Lasky studio, in Hollywood, is the brilliant array of talent which has been lined up to support her. Mitchell Lewis, who achieved fame as the French-Canadian in "The Barrier," Milton Sills, popular leading man, and Casson Ferguson, play three very strong dramatic parts. Others are Spottiswoode Aitken, veteran character man, Joseph Kilgour and Gore Kine.

The story is very colorful and highly emotional. It opens in a Chinese cafe in Shanghai, where Miss Compson is introduced as "Cherry," the beautiful daughter of the proprietor, an Englishman, who, prejudiced by his own broken life, teaches her the strange philosophy that all men are beasts, to be toyed with by women, but that they should be kept at arm's length. The result of this teaching is a long series of vicissitudes for the girl, who has great difficulty in convincing the man she really loves of her fine dormant qualities.

Quite naturally, perhaps, when film folk seek relaxation they choose something almost diametrically opposite to their regular professional activities. For example, Milton Sills, the Paramount leading man, is an expert gardener and spends a lot of time in his grounds with a book and trowel and other aids to horticultural activity; Agnes Ayres, Paramount leading lady, raises fine roses; Lila Lee seeks the beach and dives into the ocean to sport in the surf like a dolphin; Wallace Reid chases a festive golf ball all over the place; Roscoe Arbuckle goes home and washes his automobile—or rather, one of his several automobiles; Wanda Hawley finds some quiet dark and highly vaulted room and plays heavenly harmony on a grand organ; Lois Walton reads a lot; Walter Hiers tells anecdotes to his friends; T. Roy Barnes does card tricks like a past master; Theodore Roberts propitiates his numerous pets; Gloria Swanson collects rare and beautiful perfume bottles; Ann Forrest gets out her cane and goes for a long walk; Conrad Nagel seeks his library and studies worth-while literature; and so on. And they are all very human people—everyone of 'em.

Mahlon Hamilton will play the masculine lead with Gloria Swanson in her second Paramount picture, "The Shumalite."

Lois Weber has been a motion picture author, director and producer thirteen years. She has also been the wife of Phillip Smalley for the same length of time.

Harry Carey's first picture of his special Jewel productions will be known as "Bradford of Rainbow Ridge." It is from a novel by Eugene Manlove Rhodes.

Richard Dix, Leatrice Joy, John Bowers, Louise Lovely, Irene Rich, De Witt C. Jennings and Richard Winter are members of the Goldwyn cast that will produce Leroy Scott's original screen story, "The Poverty of Riches."

WILL CAMP AT L. C. BRAND HOME

All grammar school boys who have been in county Y. M. C. A. groups this year are to be the guests of L. C. Brand for an overnight camp on his private aviation field in the Verdugo hills, northwest of Glendale, next Friday, May 27.

The above is a very matter of fact statement of an event of very vivid interest to grammar school boys all over this county, but what language could describe what this means to a boy? To inspect the airships, to share in the stunts around the big campfire, to see and hear Charley Paddock, the champion sprinter of the world, to participate in the games, the hike, the athletics, the camp cooking—what mere words could describe delights such as these?

Here's a section of the line-up, culled from a circular descriptive of the event:

4 to 6—Arrival and assignment, inspection of airships, games.

6:00—Supper.

7:45—Campfire. Songs, yells, stunts and talks.

Saturday, May 28

6:00—Roll out for setting-up exercises.

6:45—Breakfast, each fellow cooking his own.

7:50—Devotions.

8:00 to 12:00—Hike, athletics, and games.

12:30—Lunch.

1:30—Clean up camp. Goodby.

Each boy will bring his own bedding, grub for three meals, dishes, towel, soap, toothbrush, comb, flashlight, his best mood and a non-erasable smile.

A pushball contest has been made possible through the courtesy of B. H. Dyas of Los Angeles, who owns the gigantic ball, which is the only one in this part of the country and which cost $500.

Cageball, soccer and other games dear to the heart of a boy, will be on the program.

Mr. Brand has not only invited the boys to use his grounds but is doing everything he can to make the event a success. Every minute, from the arrival of the boys until their departure, there will be "something doing."

PRAISES DEVOTION OF ANIMALS

Henry Ward Beecher said:

"Why! if horses and dogs have not souls to be saved, what, in Heaven's name, will become of their masters? For fidelity, for devotion, for love, many a two-legged animal is below the horse and the dog. Happy would it be for thousands of people if at last they could stand before the judgment seat of Christ and say, 'I have loved as truly and I have lived as decently as my dog,' and yet we call them 'only sole purpose of carrying us over that period between the levying of taxes for the ensuing fiscal year and the collection thereof, which is usually from four to six months. The city will be called upon to render this service from four to six months in advance of the payment therefor by taxation.

In this connection, we must bear in mind that during last year approximately five thousand people have been added to the population of Glendale, greatly increasing the volume of service that is required to be rendered in this connection. The cost of this service has also greatly increased during the past few years and it is to meet this emergency that the charges for the collection of garbage will be made. These charges will be 33 1-3 cents a month for the removal of garbage and waste matter and if all who are now receiving this service pay this small charge during the first six months of the ensuing fiscal year there will be collected approximately $8000. It is anticipated, however, that a number will find other satisfactory means of disposing of their garbage and that the actual receipts will amount to approximately $1000 a month, which we estimate will cover the cost of gathering garbage and waste matter.

Rubbish will only be gathered in the business district for the reason that it is not best from the standpoint of fire risk to permit it to be burned there. A small charge will be made to cover this also. The charge will range from 25 to 50 cents a month. The city is now gathering waste papers and rubbish daily in the entire business section of Glendale. This service will cost the city approximately $3000 for the present fiscal year. The small charge that will be collected for this service beginning July 1, 1921, is not expected to entirely cover this expense but will help out greatly during the first six months of the fiscal year and is needed for reasons stated above.

It might be well to mention in this connection that in order to adequately provide for this service, the city has had to purchase two trucks and equipment which cost about $4200. This is an expenditure that was not contemplated in the budget for the present fiscal year and will have to be met largely from the revenues of next year. It is well to remember in this connection that cities as well as all other business institutions have been affected by the rise in costs during the past several years. Notwithstanding this, the city of Glendale has not found it necessary up to the present to employ any special means of raising revenue such as special taxes, high licenses, etc.

high in Masonic circles who was present was Right Eminent Past Grand Commander Perry Weidner, who is an officer in the grand encampment of the United States, who made the chief address of the evening on "Americanism." He spoke of the illiteracy in the United States and the fact that in metropolitan centers like New York, districts can be found where the population speak in a foreign language. He declared that education is the best means of developing Americanism and that the speaking of English should be a requirement of citizenship in the United States. He referred to the fact that the Masons are standing back of this movement and exhorted his followers to push the good work along. His theme was reinforced in the speech made by Sir Andrew Copp. General Wankowski brought greetings and congratulations from the grand lodge of California.

Past Commander Priaulx made a fitting talk when he surrendered the chair to Commander Campbell, who responded in like manner expressing his earnest desire to live up to all the responsibilities of his office.

Sir Clem Moore also made a little speech in presenting the jewel to Past Commander Priaulx, who acknowledged the gift in a felicitous little speech.

Warren Rowley of Commandery No. 9, Los Angeles, who helped to institute the blue lodge in Glendale 17 years ago, was a guest and there were other visitors from Pasadena.

As usual the lodge hall was beautifully decorated with bouquets on the pedestals, potted plants and greenery.

MANY BUILDINGS NOW UNDER WAY

J. J. Burke, local contractor and builder, talking with a Press representative, stated that he had already under construction and contracts ready to be closed, more work than at this time last year.

Among the many contracts are: Concrete warehouse in rear of 121 North Brand, for Harry Jameson, to be used as a warehouse or garages; a five-room residence and garage at 334 West Lomita for J. K. Mallott, late of Wilbur, Neb., who with his family has forsaken the east to enjoy the comforts of California, and especially Glendale. For 30 years the Mallott family have numbered Mr. Burke as their friend and neighbor; a large five-room residence for Ezra Parker on his ranch, three miles north of Lankershim. When finished, Mr. Parker will move his family, yet continue to make Glendale his place of business.

At present Mr. Burke is devoting his time to the superintendency of the Coker & Taylor building at 205-209 South Brand. This new business block is to be 50 by 90 feet, two stories and basement. The first floor will contain the offices, display room and work shop. At present it is the intention of Coker & Taylor t ouse the second floor as a modern, up-to-date display room for bath, kitchen and laundry fixtures. The basement will be used as a storage room.

Mr. Burke is optimistic regarding the future of Glendale and portends a season of wonderful growth and at that, is but voicing the sentiment of the entire city.

PUBLIC FORUM

A Protest

"Editor Glendale Press—I am one of the many who consider the proposed plan for meeting the expense for the collection of garbage, rubbish, etc., an imposition on the people. It is unfair, in that whether you have much or little or no garbage at all, you are required to pay a fixed monthly rate. If the taxes before they were so greatly increased were sufficient to meet this expense, they surely ought to be now, and when the rate of taxation was levied, the same was figured in. Were the taxes reduced in proportion, it would be a different matter, but to tack on this additional expense is simply bleeding the people. Many dispose of their own garbage by feeding scraps to the chickens and burning or burying the rest for fertilizer, and it would be a gross injustice to such to compel them to pay a monthly sum for services never rendered them. Rubbish, like tin cans, will collect for everyone, but let that be handled as heretofore, and treat all in a fair manner.

"A TAX-PAYER."

Endorse Candidate

"Editor Glendale Press—The regular meeting of the Oak Street Improvement association was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Clark on May 23, for the specific purpose of deciding upon a candidate who would receive the unanimous endorsement of the association.

"S. A. Davis of 118 East Colorado boulevard had been recommended to members of the organization by many prominent voters of our city, and a committee had been appointed some weeks ago to importune Mr. Davis to consent to the use of his name as a candidate for the offiee of board of trustees of Glendale, but Mr. Davis, prior to the above date, had not acquiesced.

"However, Mr. Davis had consented to meet with us on the above date, which he did. After making some valid excuses and many very lame ones, Mr. Davis capitulated and was unanimously endorsed.

"Although no special effort was put forth, nearly 50 members were present, many propositions concerning the welfare of our city were discussed pro and con, but owing to the limited time allowed, a special meeting was arranged for Wednesday evening at the same place and time, 351 Oak street, at 8 p. m., at which meeting anyone interested in the election of a capable man who will see that every resident of Glendale gets a square deal, is invited to be present,

"MRS. ELLA P. TATLOW,
"Secretary-Treasurer."

Declines Honor

Editor Glendale Press: I wish to thank my numerous sponsors to my nomination for a seat on the new city council election. My business is such at present, that it will not allow me to put the proper time required as a representative of this ever-growing city of ours. At some future date I may take it up; but I pledge my support to all matters tending to the good government and upbuilding, without any undue or unnecessary expense in helping to keep down the expenses and burdensome taxation and hope we shall see represented a loyal full-blooded American citizen's council, lovers of all true clean sports and amusements, nonsectarian and nonpolitical, making this a clean and bright little city to live in.
